Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 30 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Morning rain clearing eastwards during early afternoon on Saturday.

Today:
Cloudy, breezy and wet during the morning, as a broad band of rain, perhaps turning briefly heavy, clears eastwards during early afternoon on Saturday. Drier and brighter later, with some sunny spells and isolated showers following to western areas. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
A mostly fine night with long clear spells once any remaining showers die out across the Pennines. Some fog may cover higher ground later in the night, as cloud increases. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Sunday:
Cloud soon thickening with freshening winds bringing a band of rain across the region during Sunday morning. Brighter with showers following these mainly affecting the Pennines, probably turning occasionally heavy. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Monday bright and showery with strong winds easing later. Lighter winds on Tuesday with sunshine and chance of a shower. Wednesday bright with showers, mainly near coasts. Feeling colder.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.